“Biotech Funding Trends” by Alexandra Carina Gruber New book examines financing trends in the biotech industry

(Vienna, 15 January 2009) – A new book entitled “Biotech Funding Trends. Insights from Entrepreneurs and Investors,” authored by Alexandra Carina Gruber and published by WILEY-VCH, takes a close look behind the scenes of biotech financing. Based on a series of interviews with high-level biotech entrepreneurs and investors as well as numerous case studies and illustrations, this new book provides a comprehensive overview of current financing trends in the biotech industry.

“My intention in writing this book was to highlight the potential tensions resulting from the different backgrounds and diverging expectations of the two parties involved in developing a biotech business,” says the author. The book provides a series of hands-on suggestions on how to dismantle existing prejudices and to succeed in this highly competitive environment. This also makes the book an interesting read for students aspiring to pursue a career in biotech.
